100% Smokefree and Tobacco-Free Correctional Facilities

January 1, 2021

Federal

Effective January 2015, the Federal Bureau of Prisons prohibits smoking of tobacco in any form in and on the grounds of Bureau institutions and offices, except as part of authorized inmate religious activity. Bureau staff and visitors may only smoke in designated outdoor areas. The American Jail Association, the American Correctional Association, and the National Commission on Correctional Health (NCCHC) have adopted smokefree resolutions that promote smokefree policies in jails and prisons – these are recommendations not mandates. For additional information on health services in the nation’s correctional facilities, visit the NCCHC website at <http://www.ncchc.org/>.

*ANRF has received reliable reporting that the Mississippi policy will be rolled back effective February 1, 2021 allowing smoking in all prisons.

ⁱ Nebraska policy does not apply to Community Corrections Centers in Omaha and Lincoln, which have their own policies.

ⁱⁱ In 2009, South Dakota's Department of Corrections eliminated an exemption for tobacco use in Native American religious ceremonies. In April 2014, the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the removal of the religious exemption violates the constitutional rights of Native American inmates. The Department of Corrections may appeal the decision.

ⁱⁱⁱ All Kentucky correctional facilities are 100% smokefree and tobacco-free indoors except for Eddyville State Penitentiary.

^{iv} All California correctional facilities are 100% smokefree and tobacco-free indoors except for employee housing.

^v At New Mexico correctional facilities, smoking and tobacco-use is permitted by employees in private residences and personal vehicles on facility property.

[^] Tobacco for ritual tribal or other religious use is permitted.
